Balancing Me & You, the Old & New - Living Life in our "New Normal"

Join Dr. Jessie Schroeder, PsyD & Melissa Hammond from Genesis 360, Inc. to talk about what life looks like during and after the COVID-19 Pandemic. This dynamic duo will be focusing on caregiver self-care while caring for others. They'll be bringing tools to help you develop routines for yourself and your loved one while also learning how to establish new routines, especially when we have no choice (like during the last year, for instance).

Getting Ready to Soar Back into the Community

Join Mandi Dornfeld, Human Development and Relationships Educator with the University of Wisconsin-Madison Division of Extension to talk about getting back into the community and to life after the last year. As in-person programming, respite, and gatherings with family and friends start up again, most of us are feeling varying degrees of fear, uncertainty, and impatience. Learn ways to increase resilience and acceptance of "what is" & increase your hopefulness of "what can be."
